

Aéroports de Paris introduces new features in the latest version of My Airport application

My Airport, one of the smartphone applications offered by Aéroports de Paris, is now available in a new version for users of Apple and Android smartphones, in the hope of better serving and informing customers in Parisian airports. Downloaded nearly a million times since its launch in July 2009, this application for real time information has been updated to offer users the following new features:

My Airport is now available in six languages. Riding high on the successful launch of its French and English language versions, the Aéroports de Paris application is reaching out to a wider audience and enhancing its service with four new languages: Spanish, Russian, Chinese, and Japanese.

What's more, in order to better meet the needs of all customers, the new version of My Airport brings a range of new services:

- parking memory
- quick search function
- share flight information through e-mails or social networks
- shopping guide and brand presentation
- currency converter from/to the euro
- travel glossary
- time zones.

The new version of the application is also more user-friendly and has improved graphics and technical features.

Available from Apple Store and Google Play, My Airport provides access to flight information in real time and offers up a host of useful tips: opening hours, car parking comparison, route planner, handy phone numbers, procedures, business services, etc.
